PREFACE FOR THE ONLINE EDITION

This survey was originally compiled in 1985 by Archivist Emily J. Oakhill, who explains the scope of the survey in the Introduction that follows. I have revised and expanded the survey with the assistance of Monica Blank, Kathy Brennan, Catherine Keim, John LeGloahec, Erwin Levold, Harold W. Oakhill, and Pecolia Rieder.

Readers will note that the survey is formatted in columns. Reading from the left, readers will find a box number, a folder number, and the folder title. If only one column of numbers appears to the left of the folder title, this is a box number. Variations in the formatting and style of the descriptions and folder lists for the different collections reflect the differences among the finding aids for these collections.

For more information about particular collections, readers should consult the online Guide to Archives and Manuscripts at the Rockefeller Archive Center at:

<http://www.rockefeller.edu/archive.ctr/arcman.html>

Readers with questions about the collections should contact the staff of the Archive Center via email at archive@rockvax.rockefeller.edu.

INTRODUCTION THE 1986 EDITION

This survey of sources lists material specifically relating to labor and industrial relations at the Rockefeller Archive Center. This includes the study of and active participation in labor and industrial relations by the organizations and people whose material is located at the Center. The survey has not been limited to American documents.

Topics which have been included are:

- economic security (social security)
- wages
- income tax
- unemployment
- employment
- occupational choices
- leisure time
- labor law
- unions
- industrial health
- profit-sharing
- specific vocational education

Records relating to the internal operations of the organizations surveyed have not been included unless the files were considered to be broad in impact on labor and industrial relations. "Industrial" schools have not been automatically listed.

Related fields which have not been listed but may include material on labor and industrial relations are business and economics.

Within these limits, this survey may be regarded as complete.

RECORDS OF ORGANIZATIONS

COMMONWEALTH FUND RECORDS, 1918-1981

The Commonwealth Fund was established in 1918 with an endowment of $10 million from Mrs. Stephen V. Harkness for "benevolent, religious, educational and like purposes." Grants supported child welfare, public health, rural hospitals, medical research and medical education. The material has been processed and a register is available.

GENERAL EDUCATION BOARD RECORDS, (1901-1964)-1967

The General Education Board (GEB) was established in 1903 by John D. Rockefeller to aid education in the U.S. "without distinction of race, sex or creed." The program included grants for endowment and budgetary support of colleges and universities and fellowship and scholarship assistance to state school systems at all levels. The collection has been processed and a register is available.

Series 1 Appropriations, Subseries 1, Early Southern Program

This subseries reflects the original interest of the GEB in the development of a comprehensive system of education in the U.S., which entailed grants to schools, colleges and universities for building and endowment, and teacher training, certification and salaries. Thus, the files reflect upon working conditions for teachers. Materials for particular schools, especially the industrial and agricultural schools, also contain discussion of vocational education, including home economics, and regional employment opportunities in agriculture and industry.

The list below includes all of the schools, colleges, and universities which received GEB support under this program. This series is arranged alphabetically by state and, within each state, by numerical code. Not all numbers are used in each state.

THE ROCKEFELLER FOUNDATION ARCHIVES, 1910-(1912-1979)

Established in May 1913 by John D. Rockefeller “to promote the well-being of mankind throughout the world.” From its earliest years, the Foundation has been both a grant-making and a direct operating institution.

In addition to the records listed below, readers may also wish to consult the Rockefeller Foundation Minutes, 1913-1918, under Investigation of Industrial Relations.

Record Group 1: Project Files

The project files are divided by date of material into groups (RG 1.1, 1.2, 1.3, etc.). Within each of these groups the material has been assigned an arbitrarily chosen state or country number. When a letter follows the number, the material also has been given a subject code. Individual project titles then follow alphabetically.

Rockefeller Foundation records more than 20 years old are open for research. Record Group 1.1 has been processed and a register is available. Most of Record Group 1.2 has been processed; a partial register is available and inventories are available for unprocessed material.

RECORD GROUP 2: GENERAL CORRESPONDENCE, 1927-1979

The general correspondence of The Rockefeller Foundation is an annual collection of material not related to grant-making. It is organized first by year and then by series in the same manner as Record Group 1. Before 1928, this correspondence was filed with the project files or discarded.

Access to this record group depends largely on the use of the Rockefeller Foundation card index (on microfilm) at the Archive Center, which will lead to specific persons and organizations. Processing is in progress. A register is available for material through 1956; inventories are available for later material.

RECORD GROUP 3.1: ADMINISTRATION, PROGRAM AND POLICY, 1910-1979.

This record group consists of administrative and program and policy information in the form of correspondence, memoranda, and reports. There are 21 arbitrarily numbered series, dividing the material into areas of administrative or program interest. Within these series the material is arranged alphabetically. The material has been processed and a register is available.

The Rockefeller University, established in 1901 by John D. Rockefeller as The Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, was the first institution in the United States devoted solely to biomedical research. In 1954 the Institute became part of the University of the State of New York and acquired the right to confer graduate degrees, awarding its first Ph.D.s in 1959. The Institute became The Rockefeller University in 1965.

In addition to the records listed below, the papers of the University's former leaders — Simon Flexner (director, 1903-1935), Herbert S. Gasser (director, 1935-1953), Detlev W. Bronk (president, 1954-1968) and Frederick Seitz (president, 1969-1977) — may contain relevant material. Records more than twenty-five years old are available for research.

NELSON A. ROCKEFELLER Papers, 1930-1979. The papers of Nelson A. Rockefeller (1908-1979) constitute three record groups within the Rockefeller Family Archives: Record Group 4, Nelson A. Rockefeller, Personal; Record Group 15, Nelson A. Rockefeller, Gubernatorial, and Record Group 26, Nelson A. Rockefeller, Vice Presidential. These records document labor issues at facilities with which Rockefeller was involved — specifically, the Museum of Modern Art and Rockefeller Center — and labor as both a political and public policy issue, as well as the role of organized labor in the electoral process.

In addition to the specific files listed below, researchers may wish to consult the Gubernatorial Office Records, which are on microfilm (862 reels) at the Archive Center. “Labor” is one of the major subject headings within these records; the subject files are arranged alphabetically within Rockefeller’s terms of office as governor of the State of New York (1959-1962; 1963-1966; 1967-1970; and 1971-1973). With some imagination and thinking in terms of categories and subheadings, researchers can locate material on specific labor issues. For example, under the heading “Public Utilities” one will find material on “Transportation,” which includes a section on “Railroads,” which includes material on the “Full Crew Law.” One can envision this arrangement as follows:

Public Utilities
 Transportation
 Railroads
 Full Crew Law

The gubernatorial speech index includes subject headings such as “Labor,” “Labor Disputes,” and “Civil Service.” This index will guide the researcher to speeches, press releases, and transcripts of Rockefeller’s remarks at appearances and press conferences in two series within Record Group 15: Series 25, Press Office and Series 33, Speeches.

Rockefeller’s Vice Presidential papers (Record Group 26) contain no speeches or press releases specifically on labor, but there are a few files of constituent mail on labor in Series 3, Central Files, which contain general correspondence.

More specific files on labor in the Nelson A. Rockefeller Papers are listed below.

FILMS

The Archive Center's holdings include about 3,500 films, the vast majority of which are part of the Rockefeller Family collection or the Rockefeller Foundation Archives. These include some materials, such as newsreel footage of the construction of Rockefeller Center, that researchers interested in labor and industrial relations might find of interest. An inventory is available.
